Cheap & Convenient Building.

Door, Sash and Blind Factory.

A. DUNBAR

HAS been very successful in completing arrangements for Door Frames, Doors, Window Frames, Sashes, and Blinds, for good dwelling-houses and other buildings to be erected in this city, the coming season. He has excellent workmen in his employ, and has superior stock, so that he is now able to supply to those about to build the best articles of Door Frames, Window Frames, Sashes, and Blinds, made to any dimensions and of superior quality, either for a whole building or for a less quantity. The trouble and expense of building is very much lessened by having these articles made separately, so that the carpenters have only to put them in their place in the structure.

This business has now become well established, and only a small margin is left in ordering beforehand the cost of a dwelling-house, while the work is of a uniform excellent quality.

Any one interested can examine specimens of the work at the factory, near the Rice Place, or at the store of M. S. Jackson, on Exchange-st., and at either place any article may be obtained in large quantities ordered.

Mr. Dunbar is also prepared to furnish Window Blinds ready painted, and will be glad to wait on his customers, both in quality and price, and so well organized is the business that no man should now think of building in the old and slow and imperfect methods.

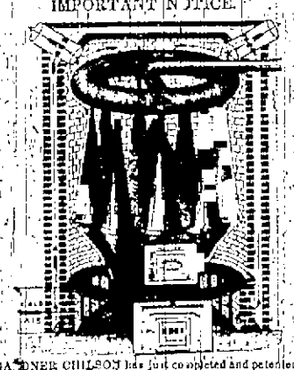
IMPORTANT NOTICE.



GARDNER CHILSON has just completed and patented in America, England and France, the new invention—the CONIC FURNACE—and takes special attention of those about erecting or remodelling buildings, as well as dealers in Hot Air Pipe, for Hot Water Furnaces, and all interested in Tin Ware, to carefully examine this invention, which entirely changes the principle and character of Hot Air Furnaces, developing a new and clear principle, and obviating all former objections to their use. The practical operation of a number of these Furnaces, erected during the past winter, points to a new discovery in science, by which the great wonderful economy in fuel has been attained, and clearly demonstrates that the waste heat lost from chimneys is enough to warm every dwelling in the city. By this invention the heat formerly lost is made to warm the house.

This discovery—simple in itself—is the daily wonder of those who witness its results, and becomes a matter of surprise, that a principle so simple and practical in its operation, should thus far have entirely escaped the notice of scientific men. We believe no one in his investigation, into principle will be liable to use a furnace constructed on any other principle, and within all who would witness its operation to call at the store of GARDNER CHILSON, HOULD & CO.,

CHEAP AND SAFE LIGHT.

NEWELL'S PATENT SAFETY LAMP AND LAMP FEEDER. Warranted to prevent all accidents from the use of Burning Fluid, Rosin Oil, Camphene and all other explosive compounds used for the production of light. This invention is applied to Common Fluid, Solar and Camphene Lamps, Lamp Feeders, Fluid Holders, Lanterns, &c. &c.

We respectfully invite the attention of the public to Newell's improved Solar Fluid Lamps in the original form, which gives a steady, brilliant flame, the nearest to gas that has ever been produced, the cost of burning being less than one cent an hour.

These Lamps are particularly adapted for Churches, Hotels, Factories, Stores and Parlors. Oil (Solar) can be burned using the same shade. Common Fluid Lamps can be changed to Safety Fluid Lamps.

Professor Silliman says, "All the so named burning fluids are explosive, whether liquid or colored, and to pretend that they are not, so as to deceive the public, but with the protection of a colored, I should have no hesitation to use it, and I do with entire confidence recommend it to my friends and others who consult me on the subject, always protecting against its ungenteel use, which has produced so many disastrous and fatal results."

These Lamps have been extensively used in all parts of the United States for more than four years, and there has not the slightest accident occurred with them. They have the sanction of the greatest scientific skill of the country, such as Prof. B. Silliman, Prof. J. Robb, Dr. Charles T. Jackson, Dr. A. A. Hayes, &c., &c.

We keep constantly on hand, the best Burning Fluids.

JOHN BABCOCK.

DISEASES SUCCESSFULLY TREATED.

REMARKABLE CURE PROVIDENCE.—Words of Advice and of Caution.—Encouraged by the very liberal patronage bestowed upon me by my friends and the public, during the past few years, and the extraordinary success which has attended my efforts for the cure of the sick, I am induced and urged to relax my exertions to further my labors, but rather to prepare myself for renewed efforts in my undertaking.

That diseases heretofore considered incurable can be conquered, I have abundant proof in my own experience. Permit me a few particulars to cases, I might mention Mrs. F., cured of vomiting blood, after having been given up by her family physician to die; Mr. T., cured of a violent eruption over his head and parts of the body, and pronounced incurable by one of the best physicians in Norfolk county. Mr. H., cured for consumption. Mr. J., of liver and kidney complaint; Mrs. T., of cancer in the breast, as far as I can learn, has died. Mr. B., of secondary symptoms, after having been brought near the grave under the treatment of other respectable physicians. Miss M., of consumption. Mr. C., of very alarming consumptive symptoms; and I might go on with such cases and still be humane. I will gratuitously give the full name of any of the above. I will apply to them if any doubt.

Hope, then, ye for the Sick—I do not give an idea now of sending medicines to agents, but rely for speedy and sure cures upon their ability to prescribe the medicines themselves. Persons can consult by letters and have their medicines sent by express.

Advice—I am always glad to give freely, and I do so in calling upon me next door for tender any obligation to take medicines, unless they choose to do so.

Words of Caution—There is an age of new things, but how much good the old is much humbug. I do not very frequently advertise in the papers. For the reason I have found my medicines to be safe and efficacious, and the public may rely that they will do what is promised for them.

I warrant a cure in all curable cases. If a person gives my medicine a fair trial without receiving the promised benefit, I make a standing offer to any other physician, I will refund all the money paid me.

A full description of my medicines, and many certificates of remarkable cures, together with much useful information, can be had by applying at my office. My book sent by mail on the receipt of a postage stamp.

The following is my advertising card:—

E. D. SPEAR, INDIAN DOCTOR, so much celebrated for his remarks his cures, may be consulted at his office, No. 18 Kneeland Street, from 8 A. M., to 21 P. M., upon all diseases and conditions of the human system, free of charge.

Natural Dr. Spear gives special attention to chronic forms of disease, Humors in the Blood, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Skin diseases, Urinary difficulties, abnormal condition of the Kidneys, Liver and Heart, Rheumatism, all female diseases, especially Prolapsus Uteri, and unnatural suppressions, weak nerves and debilitated.

Dr. Spear is now being visited by one thousand patients every month, many of whom travel hundreds of miles to consult him and to obtain his remedies.

Dr. Spear will warrant a cure in every curable case. After giving his remedies a fair trial, if a cure is not effected, he will pay any other physician who will effect a cure, his bill, not exceeding $100. Persons at a distance can consult him by letter, enclosing a stamp to pay the postage.

THE PARLOR SEWING MACHINE.

This new and beautiful machine, designed for every variety of Family Sewing and Tailor's Work, forms each stitch the same as sewing by hand. The superiority of this machine over every other is at once seen, not from the rapidity of its movements, but from the perfection of the real "lock-stitch," which can be changed at pleasure, running, basting, over and over, back, and quarter back, and side stitching, making a person to adapt the stitch to the work or fabric as desired. Every part is perfectly simple and easily understood; so unskilled to spool, and certainly to take care of, as no other machines are, practitioners of Dentistry the needles; by reversing spools by using a single thread, and the needles threading themselves, that once become the lady's ready handmaids at will, and the tailor's substitute for a dozen hands. With the turn of a single screw, each different stitch is obtained, in which a person with the directions sent, soon becomes expert. No drawing, knotting, looping, chafing, tumbling, slipping, slipping, or unravelling, but real ladies' stitch. Every machine is warranted perfect, and finished up in a variety of elegant styles, truly making an ornamental seamstress. Manufactured only by Howard & Davis, Exhibition and Salesroom, 203 Washington Street, Boston.

Many of these points are settlements and extensive lumber operations are formed and conducted with uniform success, providing already the most profitable lumber operations in the Union, and having access, by means of Lake navigation, to

Tracts of from 40 to 40,000 acres

THURSDAY, NOV. 13, 1856.

Is this a Free Country?

Judging from our Fourth of July glorifications, one might suppose we are the freest country under the sun. But the truth is, we are the most subservient of any to party leaders and political demagogues—and things have now come to such a pass, under the despotic rule of Slaveholding oligarchy, that citizens of the free North are subjected, on board our steamboats, and on our thoroughfares of travel at the South and West, to the most vexatious arrests and the most degrading surveillance, merely on account of their political opinions.

These outrages we know have been decried by party leaders, and the facts designedly kept from the people—even in the district, on the part of some of our professedly Democratic papers, of dismissing their own Kansas correspondents for telling the truth—men who, like Mr. A. H. Marshall and Mr. T. P. Townsend, of New Hampshire, went out to Kansas as decided democrats, and there became enlightened as to the real state of things, and were constrained to speak out boldly the most unwelcome truths.

Many of these unwarrantable outrages and tragical occurrences have come so directly home to our own "business and firesides," that we of New England may well be aroused to a sense of our degradation. The policy that closes our territories and the great highways of our Nation against the free men of the North, and places them in the hands of a band of bandit of slaveholding pirates, and subjects our citizens to be seized, chained, dragged to be scourched, and their protests to be plucked at the will of every border ruffian, may well strike dismay into the hearts of every democrats in brethren of the North and East.

The young gentleman, Mr. George L. Moody, of whom complaint by the ruffians of Missouri an account was given in our Wednesday's paper, is, in his family relations, directly allied to some of the most prominent democrats of New Hampshire, and a nephew of the late Geo. B. Moody, Esq., of this city.

With reference to this outrage the Chicago Democrat will take—

"Have we a Constitution? Have we laws? If so, have we any one to see that they are faithfully executed? What is Gen. Pierce about? Why is he hourly bolstering the blood that he inherited from his father, the gallant Gen. Pierce of the American Revolution, by allowing the descendants of those men who fought side by side with his father to be thus arrested on the trip rivers of the Union?"

Getting Conversion. A Buchanan Democrat from the country with a sore, looking physiognomy, was conversing with a Republican in this city yesterday, who remarked to him, "I suppose you are greatly mortified at the election of your candidate, Mr. Buchanan."

"Ahem" said he, "I don't know about that, for since I threw that vote it seems as though every man, woman and child that I meet actually hates me," and he went off looking gloomier than ever.

"Not Bad." A gentleman once sent in communication with a fictitious signature to a paper in a neighboring city, and the editor thought the document improper and rejected it. In a day or two after, the writer came in and demanded the reason of its non appearance. When informed, he said angrily "stop my paper, I have taken it for ten years—and I will patronize it no longer, if this is the way I am to be treated."

"You'd better not step it" said the knight of the quill threateningly, "for if you do I have it in my power to ruin you—I'll print your communication and sign your name to it."

How many persons there are who expect editors to publish communications that the writers would be ashamed to sign their names to.

Johnson says he never knew a man who paid the printer regularly, to have his sight mare or be bit by a mad dog. We wish a mad dog could be invented that would bite every man who neglected to pay the printer.

The Knickerbocker Magazine. We have received from Mr. Samuel Hueston, Publisher of the Knickerbocker, who has been stopping a day or two at the Bangor House, in this city, a copy of his Magazine for November.—In addition to its usual excellent corps of contributors, they promise for the ensuing year several new ones, besides many other new attractions. The Knickerbocker never fails to contain one or more capital stories and many rich and racy articles. The Editor's Table alone is worth double the price of the work. Terms $3,00 a year in advance. They are for sale at Hogben & Co's.

Among the many improvements which our energetic Street Commissioner, Mr. Winslow has made upon the highways and by-roads, none has been more acceptable than graveling the street leading from Main Street to the Depot. It has been changed from a bed of sand to a hard, firm road.

Senator Douglas, it is reported, will this month end to the altar the beautiful Miss Cutts the reigning belle of Washington.

Lieut. Gunnison, a trustworthy witness, reports that when he was in Utah, the three members of the Presidency had no less than eighty-two wives between them, and that one of them was called an old bachelor, because he had only a baker's dozen.

Sickness Heavy. We sincerely regret to hear of the continued illness of John G. Faxon, the poet, whose recovery is looked upon as doubtful by the most sanguine of his friends.

"Johnny, my son do you know that you have broken the Sabbath?"

"Yes, daddy," said his little sister, "and mother's big iron pot, too, in five or six pieces."

Report of the City Missionary

Ladies and Patrons of the City Mission:

Among the many duties you have imposed on your missionary, not the least unpleasant, is that of standing up before you annually, to tell you of his labors during the year past. If a great deal has been done, to tell you of it might savor of egotism, and if but little, then he is made to testify against himself. If any change could be adopted which would procure the same, or better results, he would most heartily assent to it.

This is your sixth annual meeting, and you have met, as on similar occasions before, to hear what his labors have been, what has been accomplished, and to form such plans, and devise such measures for the future, by your united wisdom and counsels, as may seem to you best adapted to accomplish the object you have in view. It is becoming at all times, in all our efforts for good to others, to acknowledge with reverence and humility, our entire dependence upon the blessing of God for success, who is the Giver of every good and perfect gift.

If your Missionary in this last report, had asked for gratitude, to Him who is plentiful in mercy, that he had been permitted to labor through the entire year without one hour's interruption from sickness, he has the same cause in his present report. As it is as true now as it was a year ago, that "The poor you have always with you, and when you will, you may do them good;" and, as this is to be done by ministering to their physical wants and preaching the gospel to them, and much in the same way from year to year, in making a report it seems the repeating the same old story with a few variations.

But if in order to stimulate us to a more faithful performance of our various duties, we need "line upon line, precept upon precept"—may not be unpreachable to have a report, though it may seem, but a mere repetition of former ones? No one but a pastor, knows the trials, perplexities, responsibilities, and toilsome labors of a pastor. And no one but a City Missionary, knows the responsible and trifling duties of such an office. For he oftentimes has to minister to the physical necessities of the poor, in clothing the naked and feeding the hungry, but there are thousands in and around every city, who do not consider themselves as belonging to any particular society. And having no pastor, if they are in darkness and doubt, and wish some one to explain to them the story of redemption, they will send for the Missionary.

If they suffer and desire to hear of the promises and consolations of God's word—if they are sick and dying and wish someone to stand by their humble couch, and bend in prayer over their last departing spirit, they send for their pastor, the City Missionary.

Besides these, here are multitudes of those for whom all these offices must be performed without being sought for. It is to be remembered "it has been said," that few of them have any inclination to seek the utterances of the gospel. They have yet to be awakened to a relish for the truth—to be made to receive and feel something of the preciousness of the gospel offers—to realize that they have interests beyond those of the suffering body, worth their thought and care. Who shall so persuade and convince them of their spiritual destitution, that they shall become earnest to appropriate the offered supplies?

Some agency must be set on foot that shall go with the gospel in hand—cross with love every threshold—enter the sad household history—sit down with patience and tenderness, to talk to careless old children and parents—minister to their temporal necessities to them the messages of mercy, and kindly compel them to come in unto the wedding feast. This, it has been your aim and desire to accomplish through your Missionary, the past year. But he feels that it has been very imperfectly done. There may be much labor promised, and for want of wisdom and care on the part of the laborer, but little fruit gathered. We cannot but hope however, that some good has resulted from the labors of the year. That your alms have lindered many hearts and dried many eyes—and given new hopes to many whose hopes of the future were well nigh crushed out. There are trials enough in our city, who were aided by your alms, in years past, that are now getting along very comfortably. They are not only able to take care of themselves, but to do to others, as they have done unto them. They rise up and call you blessed. They are living witnesses that your labor of love has not been in vain.

And we would, in hope, that good has been accomplished in a moral and religious sense.—Indeed, this is, or should be the object of every mission of good to men. For the moral and religious interests are so much more important than the merely physical, as the soul is more valuable than the body, or the mind superior to matter.

There is, perhaps, no way in which Christianity speaks so strongly and directly to the hearts of the poor and vicious, as by seeking them out in their homes and haunts, and with unobtrusive kindness, to relieve and reform them—become unto them a Savior, full of grace and truth. Sermons in words are good but, resolving by deeds is better. What has been done in these ways, may, to some extent be made known by figures. But all the good resulting from such labors—eternity alone may fully reveal.

Number of visits made during the year about 1,000
Number of families visited 150

Meetings held 180
Funerals attended 10
Pages of Tracts distributed 5000
Copies of the American Messenger monthly 125, whole No. 1500
Number of copies of the Child's Paper monthly 100, whole No. 1200
Number of Garments distributed 1,000
Families aided with clothing 52
Children clothed, not less than 100
Families visited

Foreign 30

In my visits through the city, I have been universally received with kindness, and generally cordially welcomed. Even when I have visited families which I had refused to aid, I have never been treated otherwise than civilly. One of the most unpleasant duties which a City Missionary has to perform, is, when circumstances require it, to give his reasons for refusing help—reasons which often implicate the character of the applicant. They come to me saying, "Every body says, if they will go to the city missionary—he will give them what they need." And thus I am compelled to tell them plainly, and I try to do it kindly, why I cannot grant their requests. But there are comparatively few of those sent to me, who come.

Meetings and Sabbath Schools, have, as usual, been held in several places by the students. But in the number of meetings mentioned above, reference is had only to those which I have attended myself. These have been held more or less in five different places, including the Alms-house. The number attending these meetings varies from two or five to seventy-five. They are generally held in the outer districts, where the most of the people live are too far off to walk to the city proper. And they seem to feel a deep interest in having these privileges in their own neighborhoods.

But perhaps the most important, and solemn, and most interesting of all these meetings, is the one held every Sabbath afternoon at the Alms-house. Not because the audience is the most intelligent and moral; but, because, generally speaking, it is directly the reverse. It is composed of the inmates of the Alms House and the House of Correction, varying from forty to fifty.

Many of them, I suppose, never hear a chapter read from the Word of God, or listen to its warnings, promises and invitations, except when in the Alms-house or House of Correction. There is good order, and seemingly good attention. And it is perhaps, but not to God, that the Superintendent and his family, do all that any one could do, to make it pleasant and comfortable for those who attend these meetings. And it is devoutly to be hoped that good seed sown, may bear much fruit to the praise and glory of God.

The number of garments distributed, is a little greater than any previous year. A large number were sent to me during the winter, which I tried to distribute, as far as I do the most good.

I have had many calls of late, to which I should have gladly responded. But I have but very few garments on hand, as but little of late has been sent in during the summer and Fall, it seems necessary that something should again be said to our benevolent ladies, in behalf of those who are destitute of clothing and most needing it. I have thought I would say nothing about impressions in my reports, as they have been shunned so often. But this class of persons have been of late, for the last few months and have been so successful, I may do some good to run a caution the public.

Any without hesitation, I believe more garments and bedclothing have been collected in Bangor in the last five or six months, by persons who ought not to have them, than I have distributed during the entire year. I was called by a lady who lives in sight of a certain woman of "where round" notoriety, that during the past summer, more than once, she was so successful in her visits to the city that she was obliged to hire a team to carry her articles home. She came, as before, under a false name, and gave reference to some of our most wealthy and respectable citizens. During the past month, two or three French women have carried off large quantities of clothing and provisions. One of them told, in one place, that her husband died the week before in a rage on the ground, with not even an old quilt to throw over him. She had five children, dressed. The consequence was as the lady told me herself, she gave the poor creature flour, meat, and clothing. The same woman afterwards called to my house, and seemed much surprised because she was refused help. "Everybody told her to come and he would give something." I told her everybody wanted her to go home and go to work and try to help herself. She said her husband had been sick with the fever three weeks. I went to the city the same day, and found it neither story nor bed. There were two children—The husband said he was not sick, and had not been. I was informed by the neighbors that whatever brought home in the day time, was carried away in the night. They were the habitual drunkards and are now in the House of Correction. When the husband was asked what they had done with the clothes, they had begged, he said they had a set from to Bath. Many of them had doubtless been sold for liquor. I have met others of late, almost daily with their bundles, and I begged them the articles they had, as I knew there were others who needed them as I would make a better use of them.

There are others, who have been advertised repeatedly who have been successful in begging on our streets the last summer. And I will here again quote the language of Mr. Hall, City Missionary of Salem—"that so long as the kind hearted will give indiscriminately at their doors, so long the evil will exist."—Often the clothes and articles obtained in this way, are converted into means of intoxication.

These remarks have reference to those who are entire strangers. Many families have calls from those with whom they are acquainted, and whom they help more or less every year. But there is a universal expression from all the missionary reports and papers in our larger cities that it is unsafe to give to strangers at our doors. And there does not seem to be any necessity for it, when there are Overseers of the Poor, Ward Relief Committees, and Missionaries to whom they may be sent.

It has been my practice invariably—not to give to an entire stranger at my door,—but to immediately visit their homes, if they have any, or try to obtain such information as I can of their real condition and character.

Several times I have been strongly tempted, from representations made, to break this rule, but in every instance, from inquiries it has been ascertained that the individuals making such representations were deceiving.

The necessity of a strict adherence to this course may be illustrated by a single example. About two months since, a young man about 25 years of age, called at my house early in the morning. He was well dressed, but a cripple, using one crutch. He appeared to be out of health. He gave his name and said he belonged in New Hampshire. He had been unfortunate in losing his money, and wanted some help to get home—he was robbed a few days before, on the Webster, of three hundred dollars. I remarked to him that I had not seen any account of it in the papers; and asked him if he had made any effort to recover it. He said they told him on board, it would do no good to say anything about it—said he stayed the night before about two miles in the country. He went out to try to get some work—he was a shoemaker by trade, and had come to Bangor to go into business. But having lost his money and being a stranger, he wanted to return home. Being a cripple, and apparently of delicate health, he seemed indeed an object of pity and charity.

Yet there was something in his story, that did not seem very reasonable, and wishing more time to inquire respecting his case, and to seek advice as I often do in such cases of the Overseer of the Poor, I promised to meet him in a half-hour at the store of one of them. While conversing with him there it was ascertained that he had spent a night at the Exchange. On visiting the hotel I ascertained that he said nothing there about losing money on the boat, but had told that just before leaving N. H. he had $600 sent to him, to come to Maine and buy votes. He had offered a pocket-book to the bar-keeper for safe keeping, saying that there was a great deal of money in it. The landlord said he was a rowdy to the last degree. He was very intemperate. It was also ascertained that he had not been in the city one hour, before he called for a hack and rode over to the City Hall to see the City Missionary supposing he had an office there. He came here with the intention of imposing upon our citizens, but the result was he soon found himself in the watch-house. It was thought best, however, to let him go, on condition of his leaving the city and State by the first conveyance, which I believe he did.

The first appearance of this man would naturally excite the sympathy of every one; and hence we see the necessity of caution in the bestowment of our charities.

By giving indiscriminately to all, we often not only encourage them in their indolence and vice, and thus do them a positive injury; but we rob those who have a just claim upon our charity.

The following are the sums which have been received during the year to be expended for the poor:

Dedication Fund of Norombega Hall, $
Contributions Sabbath before Thanksgiving, $260,00
Private Donations, 439,32
Returned, 69,71
10,30
Total, 779,33
Amount expended 753,36
Balance against Charity Fund $25,03

The above I have sent to distribute so as to accomplish the greatest amount of good. That I have sometimes erred, I do not doubt. We all have to learn wisdom from our experiences; and in the bestowment of our charities as well as in other things. You have seen fit for the past few years, to make me to some extent the almoner of your charities. How wisely or faithfully the duty has been performed, it is not for me to say; but allow me to return my sincere and cordial thanks to you all for the heartfelt sympathy and cheerful aid you have ever extended to me in my labors as your City Missionary. And I do so with united hearts, under thanksgiving and praise to Him who is the source of all wisdom and the fountain of all light, for all the good which has been done.

Hon. Henry Wilson, of Massachusetts, will deliver the Third Lecture before the Independent Course, on Tuesday evening November 25th, upon the institution of Slavery and its effects upon the country.

The firm and manly stand which Mr. Wilson has taken in the United States Senate during the extent debate of the last Congress, and the ability which he displayed in effectually silencing some of the ablest southern members, will cause his Lecture to be looked for with a great deal of interest. It will undoubtedly be one of the most interesting of the season.

New Coach. Friend McLaughlin, of the Franklin House, has brought out a new and elegant coach, manufactured at Concord by Downing & Co. We noticed an improvement in strapping on baggage. The strap is adjusted upon a cylinder, is secured at each end, and can be lifted up and the trunk slid under. A lever is attached to the cylinder, with a check to keep it in its place, working in such a manner that it can be tightened in an instant, thus saving at least one half the time formerly occupied in securing the baggage. It is a very useful improvement.

Bryant's Express provided us with late Boston papers.

A lady once remarked to Charles Lamb that she did not care for him three skips of a louse. The witty gentleman at once took a card and wrote the following lines, and handed them to her:

A lady once told me, and in her own house,
That she cared not for me three skips of a louse.
I forgave the dear creature for what she had said,
For ladies will talk of what runs in their head.

Spectral Circumstances. As two ladies were sitting alone in the house of T. A. Hill, Esq., on High St., last evening, (during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Hill,) they were startled at hearing a man's step in the adjoining room. As they had fastened their doors early in the evening, it is not surprising that they were much alarmed, and supposed that a man had secreted himself in the house during the day. They therefore immediately locked the door of the room in which they were. In a few minutes the steps approached the door and some one attempted to open it. One of the ladies in the meantime, had been knocking on the window to a man who was passing by, for help. He immediately responded to their call, and they admitted him, the intruder, having retreated from their door before they ventured to leave the room in order to open the front door. They then examined the house, and found that their visitor had unfastened the back door for his retreat, but had taken nothing. B.

"Balm of Thousand Flowers." Injunction Dissolved.—In the Supreme Judicial Court this morning, Justice Merrick delivered a decision on the petition of R. H. Rice, (formerly of the firm of Fetridge & Co.,) for a removal of the injunction which prohibited his manufacture of the cosmetic known as "Balm of Thousand Flowers." The injunction was granted on the petition of Fetridge & Co., who claimed the sole right to the patent and original recipe. This claim was overruled by His Honor Judge Merrick, who decided that Mr. Rice is an equal owner of the right to manufacture and sell the "Balm," that he has a right to use the same labels used by Fetridge & Co., and that he has not attempted, in any manner, to counterfeit the article or deceive the public in regard to its manufacture. The claims of Mr. Rice were sustained in every point, and the matter was thus disposed of.

A Beautiful Complexion may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove Tan, Pimples, and Freckles from the skin, leaving it soft and smooth. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning. For sale by D. Burbee & Co., and all druggists.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

This beautiful process of producing and multiplying Pictures, at small expense, is daily gaining ground. We are prepared to make these Pictures satisfactorily. It is fine for copying old Daguerreotypes, as very good Pictures may be made from poor Daguerreotypes. They may also be enlarged so as to be much more desirable—whole size being made from the medium picture. (They are the best picture to send by letter, at the expense of postage is saved.)

☞ We invite the attention of our friends and to specimens of this kind of Picture at our Rooms, No. 19 Main street, Bangor.

TELEGRAPHIC.

FROM THE DAILY WHIG AND COURIER

Election Returns.

Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, 12th.

The Evening Bulletin says: "We think the news in Pennsylvania, when the full returns come in, will read very nearly as follows:—For Buchanan 231,000; for union ticket—Fremont 200,000, Fillmore 155,000, straight Fillmore 5,000. This would give Buchanan a majority of 26,000 over the union ticket—or 31,000 over Fremont, and 161,000 over Fillmore. It is possible that the official returns will show Mr. Buchanan in a small majority, as compared with the combined opposition.

Severe Gales.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 12.

The Propeller Manhattan arrives here yesterday from Silver City, reports having encountered through the whole trip a succession of severe gales.

The steamer Superior, bound up from Chicago with a full cargo of merchandise and several passengers, left the Canal on the 25th October, since which time she has not been heard from, but it is supposed that she has foundered.

It is feared that the schooner E. C. Roberts, of Portage, and the steamer Lady Elgin, of Sandusky, are also lost.

Fifteen inches of snow fell at Autonagon on the 29th ult.

OSWEGO, Nov. 12.

The propeller City of Hamilton, with a cargo of flour from Hamilton for Ogdensburg, sprung a leak in the recent gale, and was run into Canada shoal, where she sunk.

The propeller Bay State from Ogdensburg, reports having picked up a large quantity of wreck, being part of the propeller J. W. Brooks, at the time of the late gale. Fifty bbls. of tallow and four tierces were picked up on Long Island, near Kingston. It is not yet known how many persons were on board, but it is supposed about 50, all of whom were lost.

Death of a Veteran.

Brigadier General Blankhead died here last night, aged 73. He was commander at Fort Mifflin, and has been in the service for forty-eight years.

A MEAN EDITOR. The editor of a western paper having lent his axe to one of his subscribers, the borrower unfortunately broke off the handle. On returning it the man said, "You can easily get it fixed."

"Yes," replied the editor, "but that will cost at least a quarter of a dollar."

"Well," rejoins the borrower, "if you ain't rather small for an editor, hands the quarter, and I'll thank you to stop my paper at once."

ANOTHER BET. It turns out that another bet like Maj Poore's was pending, and in consequence of the defeat of Col. Fremont, Mr. Bachelder, Representative elect from Somersworth, under obligations to draw a barrel of beer on a sled from Sutton to Worcester, and deliver them to the winner of the bet.

Dr. George B. Wood, in his address to the American Medical Association, at their last meeting, says "I have never known of death from small pox after an efficient vaccination, in consequence of the occurrence of variola."

The Baltimore Patriot says that 214 votes were cast for Mr. Fremont in Baltimore, mostly by Germans. In Louisville he had fifteen votes. The Republicans of New Castle county, Delaware, polled 700 votes. Wilmington cast 40 per cent of her whole vote for Fremont.

A HOLLOW MATCH.—Mr. Clow, the Mayor of Port Lavaca, Texas, as soon as he was elected, piled off his coat and rolled up his sleeves, and went to work at the repairing of one of the bridges, which was so too dilapidated a condition as to injure transportation. The Lavaca Herald thinks that Mr. Clow will make an efficient Mayor.

DR. J. C. AYER: I do not believe there was the best remedy have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold, in your Cherry Pectoral. Its uniform success in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints. EBEN KNIGHT, M.D.

A. B. MORTLEY, Dealer in Drugs, N.Y., writes: I have used your Pectoral in myself and in my family ever since you invented it, and believe it the best medicine for the purpose ever put out. With a bottle of it I should feel as very lately. I do believe for a bottle than do without it, or take any other remedy.

AMOS LEE, Esq., Surveyor, Ind. writes, Oct. 20, 1855: "I had a bottle of your Cherry Pectoral, which confined me in doors six weeks, for many months, which it relieved finally, at your recommendation, and the advice of our Congressman. The first dose relieved the soreness in my throat and lungs; the last quieted the hoarse cough as well as the hard, tight feeling in my chest. It was almost as valuable as we can buy, and we can give you, Doctor, and your medicines, as the poor man's friend."
